American Petroleum Institute Environmental, Health, and Safety Mission and Guiding Principles

MISSION

The members of the American Petroleum Institute are dedicated to continuous efforts to improve the compatibility of our operations with the environment while economically developing energy resources and supplying high quality products and services to consumers. We recognize our responsibility to work with the public, the government, and others to develop and to use natural resources in an environmentally sound manner while protecting the health and safety of our employees and the public. To meet these responsibilities, API members pledge to manage our businesses according to the following principles using sound science to prioritize risks and to implement cost-effective management practices:

PRINCIPLES

- To recognize and to respond to community concerns about our raw materials, products, and operations.
 - To operate our plants and facilities, and handle our raw materials and products, in a manner that protects the environment, and the safety and health of our employees and the public.
 - To make safety, health, and environmental considerations a priority in our planning and development of new products and processes.
 - To promptly advise appropriate officials, employees, customers, and the public on information on significant industry-related safety, health, and environmental hazards, and to recommend protective measures.
 - To counsel customers, transporters, and others in the safe use, transportation, and disposal of our raw materials, products, and waste materials.
 - To economically develop and produce natural resources, and to conserve those resources by using energy efficiently.
 - To extend knowledge by conducting or supporting research on the safety, health, and environmental effects of our raw materials, products, processes, and waste materials.
 - To commit to reduce overall emissions and waste generation.
 - To work with others to resolve problems created by the handling and disposal of hazardous substances from our operations.
 - To participate with government and others in creating responsible laws, regulations, and standards to safeguard the community, workplace, and environment.
 - To promote these principles and practices by sharing experiences and offering assistance to others who produce, handle, use, transport, or dispose of similar raw materials, petroleum products, and wastes.
